

At this moment you or a loved one is in need of an organ transplant. Maybe you have been assigned to the national waiting list, maybe your place on the national waiting list was denied because you were not “ill enough”.

Just imagine your life without having to be waiting by the phone all day, having to go to the hospital several times a week for dialysis; to be free of feeling in poor health, of being unable to enjoy all those things in life that you want so much.

More importantly, to know that you are making a decision that can save your life.

How much is worth to get your health back? To know, that you will be able to spend the next years with your family and friends?

Going under surgery is a difficult and a scary decision, but in the case of an organ transplant, not having an operation in time can be even worse. Take the decision now that will save your life. We will take good care of you.

In Organ Transplant Services, after more than 8 years of performing transplants our success rate is 92% for kidney transplant after 5 years, 70% for liver transplant and 80% for heart transplant after 3 years. These rates are some of the best in the world.

We perform our procedures in Latin America. With only 8.5% of the world population, Latin America performs 12.7% of the kidney transplants in the world.

All the countries where we perform our procedures have internationally recognized nephrology societies, transplant societies and national transplant organizations that propel investigation and research to continually improve transplant techniques and success rates on everyday basis.

Organ Transplant Services is a company that was created and is run by a group of Medical Doctors. Each of our staff physicians has dedicated themselves to helping international patients receive a matching transplant organ.

We have chosen to perform most of our procedures in Colombia, for many reasons, the main ones are the shortest waiting times and the excellence of their healthcare facilities.

Our patients fall in love with the friendly staff and year round lovely weather.

Our main partner transplant facilities are located in Colombia’s major capital cities: Bogotá, Medellín and Cali. In all three cities, we work with only the best hospitals. All our partner hospitals are private and are staffed by a large number of U.S.-trained personnel. They are equipped with the latest top-of-the-line medical equipment and boast transplant surgical experience of more than 10 years.

Because Colombian Law includes a presumed consent policy, we use these cities as our main transplant locations. What “presumed consent” means is that every Colombian national is considered a potential donor. In other words, if a deceased patient meets the requirements for organ donation, a highly trained transplant team can swiftly retrieve his or her organs and make them available to the organ transplant network.

Our team has been working with international transplant patients for more than 8 years. We started by providing services to patients hailing from Israel and Japan.

We are currently expanding our services to America and the United Kingdom so patients who reside in these countries can contact us directly. We have experienced great success in improving the health of our patients and in providing them with the organs they desperately need before time runs out. In addition, we offer our patients the best treatment available.

You can rest assured in knowing that Colombia’s private healthcare policies are very strict. Prior to being made available, every organ is thoroughly tested. Every Heart, Liver and Kidney is medically certified to be 100% disease free.

All these factors combined make possible a reduction in the organ transplantation waiting time. This faster pace is especially vital for people who are in need of an urgent organ transplant. In fact, the average waiting time for an organ our program participants experience is between 60 and 90 days, versus years in the U.S. However, it is not uncommon for some patients to receive their transplant within the first month of registration.

Please be aware that during this waiting period, the patient must reside in the city where the transplant is to be performed. We have partner medical facilities in Buenos Aires, Argentina, as well as in Santiago, Chile. Although we typically experience shorter waiting times in Colombia, which is why this country is our preferred option.
